

Become an SDSU Preferred Partner

Your company can become a Preferred Partner by working with the SDSU College of Extended Studies (CES). Provide your employees with professional career development and education by becoming a learning partner.

Benefits

- Tuition discount on noncredit professional development courses
- Opportunities to preview selected Professional Development programs in advance of the public
- Complimentary seats in special seminars and presentations
- Corporate recognition on CES website and in the catalog (distributed three times each year to over 50,000 businesses and households)
- Invitations to VIP events hosted by the College of Extended Studies (CES)

How to Become a Preferred Partner

A company can become a Preferred Partner when its employees' education enrollments*, either through individual attendance (enrolled in any professional development program) and/or customized training at the company's location, totals $5,000 or more in a year.

Enrollments may be multiple employees taking one program or a combination of employees taking multiple programs offered by SDSU CES.*

Option

Companies have the option to prepay $5,000 for their employees to take part in Professional Development programs. This enables immediate Preferred Partner status and the company and its employees receive the Preferred Partner rate. The subsequent enrollments are deducted from the prepayment at the Preferred Partner rate.

Please Note: If an employee does not provide the company name at the time of registration, it will affect the company's Preferred Partner status. It is important that employees include this information during class registration.
