Master of Fine Arts in Screenwriting

One of the first of its kind in the nation, SDSU’s Master of Fine Arts in Screenwriting program is a two-year low-residency master’s program that will help you turn your love of storytelling into a viable career in the screenwriting industry.

Through a combination of interactive virtual courses and intensive face-to-face learning experiences led by industry professionals and expert instructors from San Diego State University, you’ll enhance your screenwriting skills and optimize them for today’s competitive media marketplace.

You’ll also learn the basics of production, which will help you produce screenplays and written materials that are more readily adaptable to a variety of digital media formats, including film, television, and the web. You’ll get invaluable hands-on experience with production and post-production equipment in a six-week summer residency in San Diego.

Program Highlights
- Two years
- Low-residency
- Ideal for working professionals
- Well-rounded curriculum on writing, production, and business
- Focus on film, theater, television, and web-based media
- Earn a Master of Fine Arts in Screenwriting from San Diego State University

Course Topics
- Writing for Film and Television
- Writing for Short Narratives and Documentaries
- Playwriting
- Directing
- Editing and Post-Production
- Basics of Film and Television Production
- Genre Studies and Film Theory
- Business of Media

Labor Analysis – Project Management Graduate – Nationwide

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Job Postings 2019</th>
<th>Projected Growth</th>
<th>Avg. Salary Range</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>131,200</td>
<td>-2%</td>
<td>$33,660–$122,450</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Want to Learn More? For more information, please call (619) 594-7700 or email globalcampus@sdsu.edu.