Started at Palomar? Earn Your Bachelor's Degree from SDSU

If you're a Palomar College student, you can now earn a bachelor's degree from San Diego State University through our new Palomar College Microsite Degree Completion Program.

Two Unique Bachelor's Degrees

B.S. in Criminal Justice

Developed by SDSU's School of Public Affairs, our Bachelor of Science in Criminal Justice degree completion program focuses on the ways that criminal justice systems in the U.S. and throughout the world provide justice — or fail to do so.

You'll build your knowledge of traditional criminal justice issues, including criminal behavior, laws and public policy, investigation and reporting, and public administration. You'll also focus on criminal justice from a social justice perspective by learning about policy issues as diverse as genocide, institutionalized racism, organized crime, and environmental destruction. This degree also includes an optional minor in Public Administration.

Min. Completion Time: 13 Months

B.A. in Communication

Developed in collaboration with SDSU's School of Communication, our Bachelor of Arts in Communication degree completion program will teach you how to develop integrated, interactive, international, and intercultural communication strategies designed for the twenty-first century.

You'll develop an advanced ability to communicate to different types of audiences through a variety of mediums, including debate, writing, verbal and nonverbal communication, and public presentations. You'll also learn about the history of communication, rhetorical theories, and communication applications.

Whether your goal is marketing, business, education, social work, or something in between, a communication degree from SDSU will help you achieve your professional goals.
