You can take San Diego State University courses to apply toward a degree or certificate WITHOUT being admitted. It's called Open University and it's a great way to jump-start your college education, gain new skills, or pursue an interest.

Open University at a Glance

- Sign up for SDSU classes — including online offerings — on a space-available basis during a special registration window.
- Up to 24 units can be applied toward an undergraduate degree.
- No more than 9 units can be applied toward a degree or advanced certificate before being accepted to the graduate program.
- If you are currently admitted to SDSU, you are not eligible to take courses through Open University.
- You must meet all course prerequisites prior to registering.
- SDSU undergraduate students who have been disqualified must wait one year before registering for Open University courses. Graduate students who've been disqualified must wait one semester.
- International students must meet language and visa requirements. Please go to ces.sdsu.edu/open-university-registration#international for more information.

How to Register

Follow these steps to enroll through Open University:

- 1 Create a student account – Go to ces.sdsu.edu/user/student/login to get started. Have your RedID handy. You can look it up if needed. If you don't have one, click on Create a New Account, then click the What is a RedID? link on the account setup page to create one.
 - 2 Check the online class schedule – Select the period (semester) at sunspot.sdsu.edu/schedule/search. Search for courses and make a list that includes the schedule number for the classes you're interested in.
 - 3 Log in to your account when the registration window opens – Make sure to select Open U from the Login options. Click on the Open University Registration link and enter the schedule number for the course you want to enroll in and submit. You can find the dates for upcoming terms at neverstoplearning.net/OpenU.
 - 4 Register and pay – If the course is open and you meet the prerequisites, click Continue to be directed to the Registration Wizard where you can complete registration and payment. You can also register and pay over the phone with a credit card only by calling (619) 594-5152.
- A registration confirmation will be sent to you by email.
